The autumn season will open up to-morrow.

The skies clouded up last night, as if preparing for a rain.

The acclimated Memphis now sport button-hole bouquets.

The time has arrived for the full equinoctial storm to come to the front.

The Macaronis enjoyed an excursion down the river on board the steamer Clarence last Sunday.

Serib's Monthly and St. Nicholas, for October, have been received. All the new dealers have both these valuable publications.

The present epidemic has been worked up to a magnitude which it does not deserve, but we are handicapped by boards of health, all the same.

It is stated that Governor Mark believes that Plunket's State board of health made a mistake in picking out cotton as a special fomite for yellow fever.

In good times a greater number of people have died in Memphis or consumption than now die daily of yellow fever.

We have an epidemic and are cut off from the rest of the world.

The Porter Reserve, Captain Lammot comes adding, have been sent out with arms by Colonel Cameron, commanding the State troops. The Reserve occupy the armory of the State for the present.

A Elmwood cemetery, yesterday, the grave of Eugene Leidy's son was covered with beautiful flowers. It was the sad anniversary of his death last year during the terrible epidemic.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the death of the famous Latin poet Virgil, which occurred in the year 19 B. C. The old Roman gave to the world a great literature never to be forgotten, depicting Roman manners and customs in graphic style.

On Sunday night Dr. Plunket, of the State board of health, was lying in bed with the boys on a Madison street, police of Main and Madison streets, but the police took the city down before morning. The Plunket and his associates are in bad odor in Memphis.

A Memphis correspondent of the Nashville Banner says: "I cannot refrain from saying in this connection, with all due respect to the different boards of health, that isolation, draftees, etc., have had no appreciable effect in staying the progress of the disease. It has surrounded every barrier, and had it not been for depopulation, no mind can conceive the calamity that would have followed."

Dr. Porter, Chief-of-Police Athy and John Johnson who, at a meeting of the committee of safety, voted in favor of the isolation of health order No. 6, do not believe in the cotton yellow fever spore theory, but they so voted because they wanted to be in harmony with the unscientific and ignorant State health board. They made a mistake in voting against their convictions, what is wrong in the light of modern science.

A new club called "The Stage" has been organized. They gave a blow-out on Sunday at Queen's where they enjoyed a big dinner. The club will meet every Sunday afternoon at the same place.

The following have been elected officers: Eugene Leidy, chief stage; Sid Cook, second stage; B. P. Rowan, third stage; W. H. Moore, fourth stage. These great, some achieve greatness, while others have greatness shown upon them, scribbles, Chief, in fact, they are the same old chief; Fred Bartlett, assistant nurse; Charles Quante and Henry Quante, commissaries.

The gentlemen of the State board of health at Nashville, who generously issued an order and decree that spores were in lint and seed-cotton, can find their parallel in New England judges who ordered old women to be buried at the stake for witchcraft.

In the light of the science of the nineteenth century it is fruitful that doctors of medicine should enunciate so ignorant an opinion. Dr. Sully county medical association, composed of physicians who are the peers and the superiors of the men who compose the State board of health, have denied the cotton spore theory, and have called upon the board

J. WILLIAMSON returned Sunday from Kentucky.

THOMAS O'SULLIVAN is able to walk out on the streets.

Mrs. J. S. PRESTIDGE is lying very low with fever.

MR. MARK O'BRYAN is doing well and is recovering rapidly.

Captain Brown (of the Louisville railroad), is recovering rapidly.

Lieutenant LITTLETON PERIN, of the Porter Reserve, has a bad case of fever.

Mr. P. S. SIMMONS, of the police force, is down with a case of the prevailing disease.

POLICEMAN ROBERTS went home with a chill and other suspicious symptoms yesterday.

JOHN HOUTMAN is able to sit up and take nourishment. He will be out on the streets in a few days.

SEKENT DANNY, of the United States Signal Service, has a bad case of fever. He is doing well, however.

JOHN CLARK, the well-known barkeeper at Kelly's saloon, on Main near Adams, is down with yellow fever. He is getting along well, however.

To-day the friends of the late Mr. Robert R. Cotton, who died during the epidemic of yellow fever, will decorate his grave at Elmwood with flowers.

CHARLES WOODEN, better known as "Champagne Charlie" was believed to be dying last night at his residence on the corner of Second and Monroe streets.

REV. FATHER REVILLE, the well-known French Catholic priest, was taken down with fever last evening. He has been laboring among the people of his faith in the city during the epidemic with untiring zeal.

Moore and G. T. Bassett (of Morris, Bassett & Co.) with families, Mrs. Eliza Charles Krouse and Mr. Jordan, all of whom live and are enjoying the best of health.

We are informed that the friends of General Gordon have asked the governor to appoint him criminal judge. The general, who has been in the army for many years, is a man of the court here, we understand, is not an applicant for the position, but would accept if appointed and would serve with credit.

His experience of several years as attorney-general, and his familiarity with the criminal law, coupled with his solid character of character, fit him admirably for the office. The fact that he received the nomination of the Democratic party last year for attorney-general of the criminal court on a list of able competitors, was a strong endorsement of his merits and abilities. His appointment would give general satisfaction. Besides, he would remain with us in our emergency. He never shirks danger or responsibility where duty calls him. He passed through the epidemic of 1873 as a faithful worker in behalf of the sick and nursed the late Judge Ray and his family when stricken with the fever during the present epidemic. He is therefore a man of the people, and his presence is now at Bartlett and would come into Memphis at any time his presence is needed.

Memphis, September 22, 1879.

But It Took Fifty Years.

Fleming Brothers, of Pittsburg, Pa., have established a wonderful reputation for the genuine Dr. M. Lane's celebrated liver pills and vermifuge, the intrinsic value of the medicine, and fifty years of hard, persistent work, and the success of the medicine, have brought to the market a flood of imitations by the name of M. Lane's pills, but having the same pronunciation. When you buy any that every box or vial bears signature of Fleming Brothers.

THERE is no better remedy than Rood's gilt edge tonic for dyspepsia and indigestion.

Rood's tonic, can find their parallel in New England judges who ordered old women to be buried at the stake for witchcraft.

In the light of the science of the nineteenth century it is fruitful that doctors of medicine should enunciate so ignorant an opinion. Dr. Sully county medical association, composed of physicians who are the peers and the superiors of the men who compose the State board of health, have denied the cotton spore theory, and have called upon the board to prove its absurd assertion--that lint or seed-cotton contained yellow-fever spores. God save us from the Nashville doctors if they endorse the State board of health on the yellow-fever cotton-spore theory.

The Chickasaw Guards passed through Nashville on Friday last, en route for St. Louis, to complete for the fifteen-hundred-dollar prize at the St. Louis fair next month. The "Chicks" gave a drill on the streets of Nashville as they passed through. The American flag, the Tennessee flag, and the Chickasaw flag were hoisted on the cotton bales. As they entered the space between the cotton bales and the market house they were loudly applauded by the large assembly of people who had gathered to witness the drill. The Chickasaw Guards, in their fatigue suits, and with their bayoneted rifles, looked like veterans. They not only appeared to have seen service, but all their movements were executed in the most admirable manner. They executed a wheel like a piece of machinery. The movement of their oblique movements, leading and firing and the stacking of arms. On reaching St. Louis they will go into camp at the day of the drill, when they will probably visit Chicago and New York, taking with them the prize, which they are almost certain to win. Not a single one of the fifty Guards and the thirty-five persons accompanying them have been sick since they went into camp at Clarksville.
